NORFOLK, Va., May 5 .- A collision at sea that cost the lives of twenty or more people and the sinking of the Clyde steamship Saginaw by the Old Dominion: Steamship Company's liner Hamilton occurred between Winter Quarter lightship and Fenwick island lightship on the Virginta coast at 4:40 o'clock this morning.

afternoon at 3 o'clock for Norfcik and the Saginaw passed out the Virginia capes at 9 o'clock last night bound from Richmond and Norfolk for Philadelphia. A dense fog settled along the coast shortly after nightfall and while going through this fog at reduced speed the Hamilton crashed into the Saginaw's side about twenty feet from the stern. The scene of the collision is about thirteen or fourteen miles off the shore between 180 and 200 miles south of New York and between 125 and 140 miles north of Norfolk. The fog whistles of both vessels were distinctly heard for several minutes after the collision occurred. According to Captain Boaz, of the Hamfiton, his ship was making about nine miles an hour and the Saginaw about ten. The fog was so thick that objects a ship's length away were invisible, and when the two crafts hove in sight of each other, bow on, there was but a moment's interim before they met each other.

The Saginaw veered, as did the Hamilton, but they had not time to clear each other and the knife-like steel prow of the southbound vessel struck the Clyde ship on the port quarter about twenty feet from her stern, cutting the entire rear of the ship

EFFORTS AT RESCUE.

The inrushing water caused the Saginaw to settle rapidly in the stern and the impetus of the Hamilton took her out of sight of the crippled vessel. Engines, already reversed, were put full steam to the scene of the wreck, at the same time lowering two lifeboats. There was consternation among the passengers of the Old Dominion ship and the first thought was for their safety, but so soon as it was discovered that the vessel was uninjured, save that some bow plates were stove in, all efforts were directed to the rescue of those on the Saginaw.

When the Saginaw was again sighted her stern was under water and her bow was high in the ear. Panic-stricken people rushed over her decks and scrambled toward the bow. Lifeboats were lowered and into the first fifteen colored women were placed according to Second Officer W. L. Morris, who was in command. The boat was swamped as it struck the water and its occupants were thrown into the sea. All were drowned save the second officer and the colored stewardess. The latter died before the small boat reached the Hamilion more from injuries received from the impact of the collision than by drowning. She had been held up by First Mate Goslee, who sank himself as the small boat from the Hamilton reached them.

DECKS BURST OPEN. In the meantime the rush of water into the bow of the Saginaw had caused the decks to burst from their fastenings with a roar like the report of big guns, and tons of freight of all descriptions soon littered the sea. To floating wreckage the struggling people in the water clung with desperation and many of them were rescued by the boats from the Hamilton.

Before the lifeboats of the Hamilton had reached the Saginaw the latter had disappeared beneath the waves and nothing but her topmasts were visible. To these several men were clinging, one of whom was the aged captain, J. S. Tunnell. When he was rescued it was found that he had suffered serious if not fatal internal injuries. The Hamilton sailed around the scene of the wreck for more than an hour, but no sign of life could be seen among the mass of floating freight. Two bodies, one of a man and the other of a woman, both clad only in night dress, were observed drifting between bales of cotton and cases of goods. The first news of the disaster was learned at Old Point, where the Hamilton stopped for a few moments on her way to Norfolk. She arrived at her pier in this city about 2 o'clock this afternoon. Her bow plates are stove in and much wreckage still clung to her. All of the damage, however, was above the water line. The survivors of the Saginaw, on board the Hamilton, had and 900 Andino troops are coming via Carbeen given clothing by the passengers and seamen of the more fortunate vessel and a collection was taken up among the passengers to be distributed among them. It was some time before any definite statement could be secured from the offlcials of either line regarding the real number of people lost and saved, and even now. after official lists have been given out, Blanco, is with General Matos.

there is a great discrepancy between the statements of passengers and the company's statement. According to the Clyde line officials, the names of only eighteen passengers are known, and it is admitted by Second Officer Morris that fifteen colored women, all of whom are now dead, were in the swamped lifeboat. The crew of the Saginaw numbered twenty-six all told. From the officers of the Clyde Company here, the following list of passengers was obtained: E. B. Cole, Philadelphia; J. Trevor, Philadelphia; R. B. Younghead, Chester, Pa.; George B. Hood, Philadelphia; H. F. Winters, Camden, N. J.; Mary A. Sanderson, Windsor, N. C.; Morris Payner, Northeast, Va.; John Reese, Norfolk; Miller Pennell, Norfolk; Judson Seveills, Berkeley, Va.; David Roland, Newport News; Harry Robertson, Florence Newby, Edna Word M. E. J. Pardleton Edna Ward, M. E. Jones, P. L. Pendleton, A. Gilmore, S. Jernigan, all colored. KNOWN TO BE LOST.

Those known to be lost: Passengers-A. Gilmore, P. L. Pendleton, Florence Newby, Edna Ward, M. E. Jones, Mary Robertson.

Crew-Edward Goslee, first mate; William Bittes, first assistant engineer; Mary Anderson, stewardess; ---, cook; Morris, steward; unknown colored waiter. Peter Swanson, another member of the crew, is among the missing. Just how many of the above passengers were included in the fifteen that were lost in the swamped lifeboat cannot be determined as yet. A number of the passengers left Richmond on Sunday on the Saginaw, and until the list of these is secured it will be impossible to secure an accurate list of

The known saved from the Saginaw are: Capt. J. S. Tunnell, badly injured about the head and internally, also two ribs broken, Chief Engineer Beltzer, Second Assistant Engineer Murray, Second Mate W. T. Morris, several colored deck hands, firemen and coal passers.

The passengers saved are: E. B. Cole, of Philadelphia, who lost a purse con aining $700 and a large diamond stud; J. Tre-vor, of Philadelphia; R. B. Younghead, of Chester, Pa.; George B. Hood, of Philadelphia; Parry F. Winters, of Camden, N. J.; Mary A. Sanderson, of Windsor, N. C.;
Morris Payner, jr., of Northwest, Va.; John Reese, of Norfolk; Miller Pennell, of Norfolk; Judson Hevills, of Berkley, and David Rowland, of Newport News. The Saginaw was in charge of First Officer Goslee when the collision occurred and the first officer of the Old Dominion ship was also at the wheel of his vessel. From all accounts obtainable the denseness of the fog made high speed perilous and both ships were going at reduced rates. Their fog whistles were kept blowing regularly and were distinctly heard by each other before the crash. The passengers and most (CONTINUED ON PAGE 5, COL. 5.)

FORMER MAYOR AMES SAYS HE CAN-NOT RECALL CERTAIN ACTS.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 5 .- Former Mayor A. A. Ames was subjected to a rigid cross-examination by the State this morning while on the stand in his trial for bribery and extortion. When confronted by his written orders to the superintendent of police with regard to making a list of houses of ill repute he declared that the signature was made with a rubber stamp and he had never seen or authorized the order. On redirect examination he declared he had never seen the list of such houses found in his desk by Thomas R. Brown, his secretary. He denied that he had given Irwin A. Gardner $50 to reimburse a woman who had been fined in court, although paying At this point Brown was recalled and asked about the publication of Dr. Ames's etter withdrawing from the contest for the Republican nomination for Congress. Ames on the stand had declared that he had never seen the letter until it appeared in print. Brown said he had pre-

NEW ORLEANS, May 5 .- With recordbreaking attendance, both in point of delegates and visitors and with many distinguished physicians, surgeons and scientists present, the fifty-fourth annual meeting of the American Medical Association opened to-day at Tulane Theater. President Frank Billings presented his annual report, in which he laid stress on the importance of elevating the standard of medical education in the United States. Ninety-eight of the medical schools of the country, he said, were private corporations unequipped to teach the fundamentals of medicine

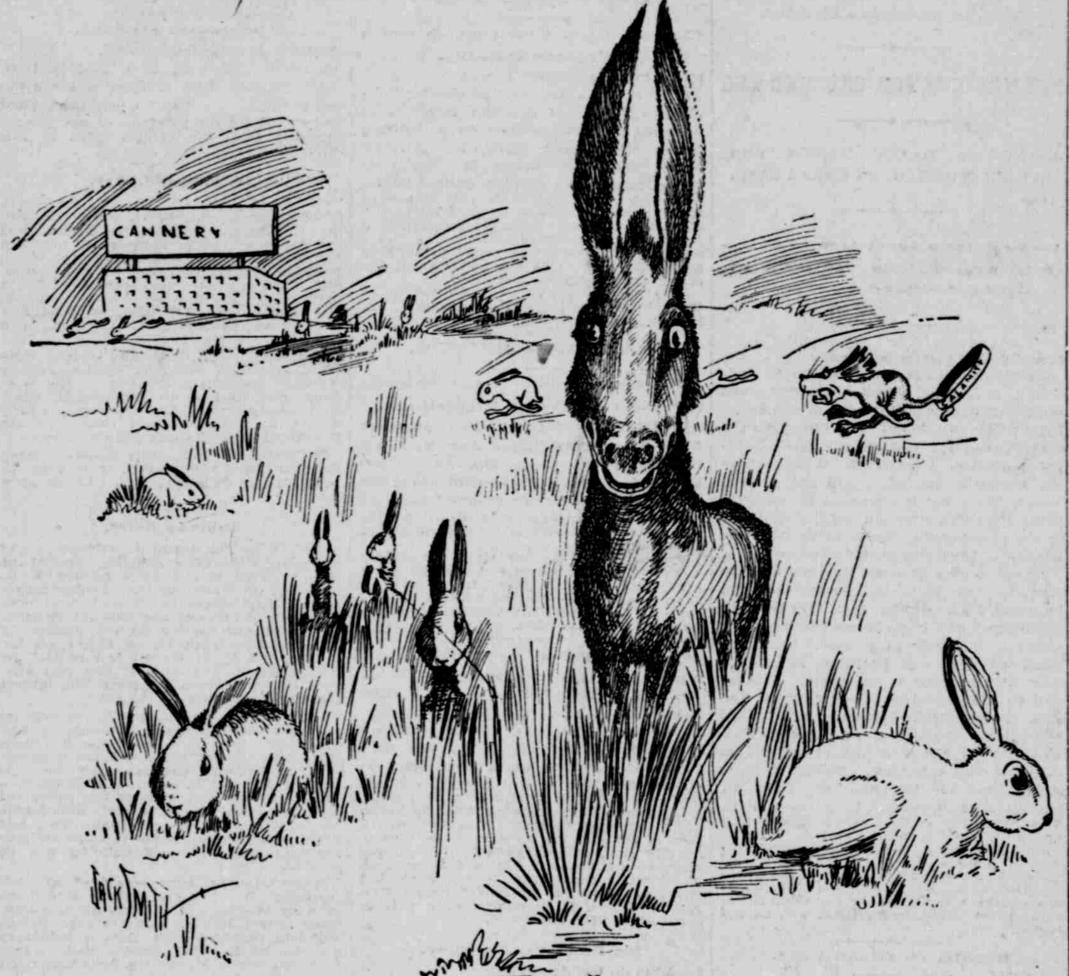

Dr. R. Elliott Harris, of New York, presented the skeleton of a report from the committee on revision of the code of ethics. It was in brief that the state bodies should e permitted to establish their own ethical requirements subject to the condition that there should be no violaion of the standard set up by the American Medical Association. Dr. Charles A. L. Reed, of Cincinnati, offered a substitute. While reciting that there could be no uniform rules of conduct formulated that would be justly applicable to members practicing their profession under different statutory laws and living under widely varying conditions. presented a statement of the ethical principles which met with favor with the delegates and was favorably recommended to business committee. committee from all the States was named as one of the most important matters coming before the association at this meeting.

MATOS POSSIBLY TRAPPED

Venesuelan Government Hopes to End the Revolution Soon.

CARACAS, May 5.-It is believed here in some circles that General Matos, the leader of the revolution, has fallen into a trap. His object in landing again on Venezuelan was to re-establish harmony among the chiefs of the revolution, who are fighting among themselves. General Matos on May 1 reached Barquisimeto, where there a revolutionary army of 2,000 men is concentrated under Generals Penalosa and Jacintolart. The government at first was nclined to disbelieve the news that General Matos had returned to Venezuela, but after this was confirmed it concentrated its forces, which are now encircling the rebels. ice President Gomez is marching on Barulsimeto via Tucacacas and Duaca with men: General Linares is approaching the rebels via San Felipe and Yaritagua with 1.400 men; General Gonzales Pacheco proaching via Guidor with 1,300 men, Within eight days Barquisimeto, which is strongly intrenched, will be attacked simultaneously by all the govern-ment forces. > News a Surprise to Mr. Taylor, Although Daughter's Choice Is Satisfactory-One Exile Will Return.

Former Governor William S. Taylor, of the mayorality candidates is in doubt and Kentucky, last night announced the marriage, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, of his second daughter, Alma, and Dr. Harvey Gale Bohannon, of Greenville, Ky. They were married in the office of Justice of the over Frank M. Wachter (Rep.) In the Peace Harvey B. Stout, that official performing the ceremony. Mr. Taylor was informed last evening, when he returned night and will not be opened until to-morhome for supper from his office.

The bride and groom were childhood friends in Kentucky, and had been corresponding since the residence of the Taylors in Indiana. They had been engaged about two years, and as they had kept their encret wedding to round out the romance. Dr. Bohannon came to Indianapolis on Monday and spent the evening at the Taylor residence, on North Delaware street, at which time the arrangements for yesterday's ceremony were completed. The license was procured yesterday, and they went at once to Justice Stout's office, where the ceremony was performed.

FATHER NOT UNPLEASED. Governor Taylor said last night that while he had not been informed of the progress of events he had no objection t make to his daughter's choice, nor had he ever expressed any objection to Dr. Bohannon. "In fact," he said, "while I wish they had informed me of their wishes so that some preparations could have been made beforehand, I am very well pleased. Dr. Bohannon is a member of an old and well-to-do family of Shelby county, Kentucky; stands well himself, and has a good medical practice in Greenville. His brother, Dr. G. ### CONTRACTOR NOLTING'S STORY

DENIES HE TALKED TO LOGSDON ABOUT SPRINKLING CONTRACT.

He Says Kennington "Lamented" Failure of Contractors to Enter Arrangement-Other Witnesses.

The session of the Council committee on investigation and impeachment last night was filled with protest against the character of the testimony that is being introduced to substantiate the charges in relation to the street-sprinkling contract. W. A. Ketcham and F. E. Matson, attorneys demonstrating a new method of applying for E. D. Logsdon, the member of the Board electricity in surgical operations. of Public Works who has been directly involved in the charges, made protest several times, and when the committee rose Mr. Logsdon, pale with anger, protested to Chairman Wynne and Mr. Eppert.

"You are giving my feelings and my reputation no consideration," said he, "you are permitting testimony to come before you which is the limit of hearsay and on which the papers base what they call 'evidence' and on which I am held up to ridicule in cartoons. You are treating me worse than a prisoner in the Criminal Court."

"The committee will give everything due consideration," replied Mr. Wynne. "You are all right." "Of course I'm all right," replied Logs-don hotly, "but you do not seem to regard my feelings and my reputation at all." Ar. Wynne and Mr. Eppert said no more.

LAWYERS DISPUTE. The lawyers had several disputes, and they were becoming personal when Chairman Wynne called them to order. Mr. Ketcham characterized the testimony introduced by Mr. Noel as a "house-that-Jackbuilt" affair and that no court in Christe dotn would ever admit much of the "stuff" Mr. Noel presented. He alluded to the effeet of the "evidence" on the public mind and the prejudice it was likely to create against innocent persons. The committee adheres to its rule of wide latitude and permitted all Mr. Noel's questions to be answered. Another development of the investigation, confirmed last night, is that the affidavits on which the published charges concerning the street sprinkling were based were not secured by the Citizens' League, and the league has no affidavits from the sprinkling league's affidavits relate to the sweeping league's affidavits relate to the sweeping contractors. It is understood all of the testimony of Conrad Rust and Nolting that the affidavits were made in office of Charles Martindale, attorney V. H. Newby, and were for use in New-Works. Nolting testified last night that he hall not communicated the contents of his aff davit to any newspaper, although he had been asked to. The affidavits were never used in the case. FURNAS AND KENNINGTON. The first witness last night was Frank M. Coffin, 1634 Bellefontaine street, who is employed weighing mails in the railway mail service. He testified that he heard a conversation in February last at the office of the L. C. Thomas Company, where John H.: Furnas has desk room. The conversation was between Furnas and Frank Kennirgton. Kennington told Furnas if he got an' work under the contract he would have to pay 10 per cent. After the witness went out Furnas told him it was Kennington. "What did Mr. Furnas say as to what the money was to be used for?" asked Mr. Mr. Ketcham promptly objected. He declared that it was taxing the limit of even the hearsay latitude assumed against the protest of Logsdon's counsel at the beginning of the investigation. He was tired of hearing witnesses testify that they has been told by some one else that another person had said so and so. Chairman Wynne said the answer should be made. Coffin replied that Furnas said: "Frank, what do you think of a city administrati asking 10 per cent. on sprinkling, sweep and sewers? Mr. Noel then asked Coffin if he had overheard a conversation between Kennington and Logsdon in the office of the Board of Works in January last. Comin sais he had. Logsdon and Kennington were standing near the board's table, outside the raiding, and the witness was about five feet from them "Now tell what that conversation was." sair Mr. Noel can't answer that," said the witness 'I can't remember Vas it about this sprinkling contract?" cannot remember what it was about."

'Will you swear that it was not about the sprinkling contract No. I cannot; I do not remember what it was about. "Vill you say it was about it?"
"I say I cannot remember. A great many thirtgs pass through a man's mind.' COULD NOT REMEMBER. The witness answered all questions tend-ng to extract information about this conversation by saying he did not remem-

Finally he said he "could say there was nothing said about 10 per cent." Mr. Noel asked him if he remembered talking with Ross Martin and J. A. Humphreys, postal clerks, in the transfer station at Terre Haute on April 27. He said he did- Mr. Noel asked him if he did not tell these men that he had heard the conversa-tion between Logsdon and Kennington, and Logsdon told Kennington he wou have to have 10 per cent. of the sprinkling con ract. He said these men were mistakin; that he had used the names of mas and Kennington and not Logsdon. Noel again asked the witness to refresta his recollection as to this conversain the basement of the courthor but he again said he could not remem-

Of cross-examination the witness said the confersation between Logsdon and Kennington was in an ordinary tone. Mr. Noel next put J. A. Humphrey, of Mr. Humphrey said he and Ross Martin in the transfer room at Terre Haute. Mr. Nos asked the witness if he heard Coffin say that he heard the conversation below Logisdon and Kennington and had said was about the 10 per cent. Here Mr. Ketcham furlously uestion. Mr. Matson said, "Oh! rate
